

Global Employment

By Haylie Smith, Grade 6

Training is improving,
And jobs are, it's true,
In engineering, teaching, and manufacturing too.
Opportunities are opening and jobs are as well,
Making room for the new; time will tell.
Don't freak out this isn't a bad thing,
The jobs being replaced are still in full swing.
Robots are doing them so we don't have to,
So we can do bigger jobs that are better for you.

Around the globe everything is changing,
And the continent's ideas are always exchanging.
With all of these minds put together
The work is almost as light as a feather.

With colleges training,
The old jobs are draining,
Future jobs are coming, it's true,
There are so many, maybe even one for you.

As money is made,
Employees are paid.
And the new jobs, they soar
Which the people adore.
The sooner you explore,
The less you'll have to look anymore.
Your search will have offered a clue,
As you might have found the perfect job for you.
